OUR COMMITMENTS TO THE APPEAL, QUALITY AND SUSTAINABILITY OF OUR PRODUCTS

We want to offer you the best corporate wear and accessories with fashionable products, quality that is constantly improving and which offers increasingly environmentally friendly characteristics. These characteristics are at the heart of our approach and we will continue to develop them to reinforce the responsible nature of our practices. We encourage our partner brands to label their products according to the most advanced standards in the textile industry.

Organic cotton textiles

Organic cotton is grown without pesticides, GMOs or chemical fertilisers. The certifications we have guarantee the organic nature of the textile fibres used, ensure the traceability of raw materials and certify good social and environmental practices.

Recycled materials

We have certifications that attest to the recycled content of our products, validating compliance with social and environmental criteria and imposing restrictions on the chemical composition of products. Our certifications guarantee that a product contains a minimum percentage of recycled materials, certifying all stages of production, from fibre recycling through to manufacture.

Post and pre-consumer recycled material

Post-consumer materials come from consumer waste generated by households or by industries and businesses in their end-user role.

Pre-consumer materials come from waste generated during a manufacturing process, excluding the reuse of materials from the same production process.

Recycled materials from bottles

We display the number of plastic bottles reused to make post-consumer recycled polyester for our products.

Confidence textile

Our certifications guarantee that tested and certified items do not contain harmful substances in proportions that could be damaging to health.

Animal protection

Our labels certify products without any trace of animal material and guarantee that they have not been tested on live animals, in line with international animal welfare standards.

We also have a wool production label that certifies the well-being of the sheep.

French Origin Guaranteed

This certification guarantees that a product has been manufactured in France, with at least 50% of manufacturing costs (including raw materials) of French origin.

OUR RESPONSIBLE PURCHASING APPROACH CONTRIBUTES TO THE SUSTAINABILITY OF THE TEXTILE SECTOR

In a complex and ever-changing world, controlling our supply chain is vital when it comes to better manage the impact of our business on society and the future of the planet.

This is why we favour partner brands that share our goal of producing in a responsible and sustainable manner.

OBJECTIFS DE DÉVELOPPEMENT DURABLE

For this reason we ask them to adhere to internationally recognised principles and standards concerning:

- Respect for human dignity and the protection of human rights.

- The International Labour Organisation's (ILO) regulations, and in particular:
- The fight against child labour, forced labour, harassment, abuse and discrimination;
- Freedom of association and collective negotiation, decent wages and benefits, reasonable working hours, hygiene, health and safety of personnel.

- The protection of human health and the environment, in particular:
- The implementation of effective environmental policies as well as the use of sound technologies and practices throughout the product life-cycle;
- The optimisation of the use of water and all natural resources as well as energy consumption;
- Actions to support biodiversity and the fight against pollution in all forms (air, soil, water);
- The circular economy by working to minimise the production of waste (including wastewater) and to maximise recycling.

- Ethics and professional integrity by acting fairly when it comes to markets/contracts and by respecting the rules of free and fair competition.

To demonstrate compliance with these requirements, we encourage our partners to adopt the following approaches:
- Membership of internationally recognised bodies such as the Global Compact;
- Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) assessments such as Afnor/Acesia, Ecovadis, ISO 26000, etc.;
- Obtaining social and environmental certifications, independently or for sites where their products are manufactured, based on standards such as SA 8000, ISO 45001, ISO 14001 or equivalent, as well as those based on audit reference systems such as Amfori/BSCI, WRAP or SMETA (SEDEX), or equivalents.
- The implementation of product traceability systems and the completion of life cycle assessments (LCA) to measure and reduce their environmental impact.

COTTON "IN CONVERSION" POSITIVE TRANSFORMATION

Adobe Stock / #385500 Neha

Currently only 1% of world cotton production is organic.

We support our partner brands that are committed to the deployment of «In Conversion» cotton. A comprehensive and sustainable programme that seeks to improve the quality of life of producers so that they can gradually switch from conventional to organic cotton.

Confronted with strong demand and soaring prices for this raw material, growing "In Conversion" cotton is an effective strategy designed to gradually increase the world supply of organic cotton and thus help preserve the planet.

3 YEARS

It takes 3 years to eliminate pesticide residues from conventional cotton fields and allow the soil to regenerate.
From the first day of this transition programme, production scrupulously complies with the standards required by the organic sectors.

FROM CONVENTIONAL COTTON TO ORGANIC COTTON

Investment in organic farming involves financial support for producers, training and technical assistance that combines traditional and modern organic methods.
The programme contributes to improving the quality of life of producers, pushing them to move towards sustainable agriculture. It is an essential partnership to bring about real change for the future, and to ensure that everyone benefits.

The mission of the certification bodies is to assist, supervise and rigorously control all the actors of the textile industry. They ensure that the following points are respected:

MARKING TECHNIQUES

Customising a garment takes real expertise.
Designers have the special skills required to create textile communications that reflect your company's image.

SILKSCREEN PRINTING

Appearance
Opaque paint with a slightly raised finish.

Process
A technique using stencils (screens) to apply ink directly to the textile. Each colour requires a separate screen. For vivid, opaque prints, suitable for a variety of materials (cotton, polyester, polycotton, etc.).

SÉRIGRAPHIE

Advantages
Bright, long-lasting colours.
Cost-effective for large quantities.

Disadvantages
Limited to a small number of colours.
Unsuitable for fine detail or gradients.

EMBROIDERY

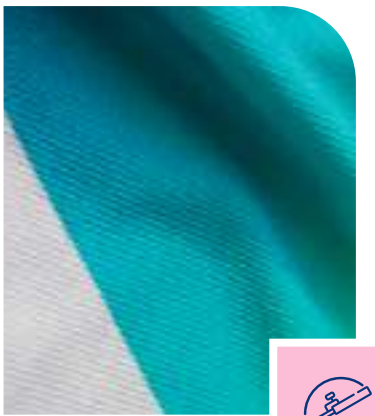
Appearance
Silky relief.

Process
Embroidery involves sewing a design directly onto a textile. For optimum results, we recommend choosing a fabric with a high grammage.
This technique requires an embroidery machine and allows you to create designs in relief. You can mix yarn colours and textures to create different effects (gloss, matt).

BRODERIE

Advantages
Très résistante et durable.
Aspect premium et élégant.

Disadvantages
Not suitable for fine detail.
Not suitable for large surfaces or gradients.



SUBLIMATION

Appearance
Coloured fibre.

Process
A printing technique in which the ink, in the form of a gas, penetrates directly into the textile fibres. It is mainly used on light-coloured polyester fabrics, as the ink binds chemically to the fibre. Ideal for high-definition printing with a highly detailed, relief-free finish.

SUBLIMATION

Advantages
Excellent detail and colour reproduction.
Very resistant to washing.

Disadvantages
Only works on fabrics containing polyester.
Limited to light-coloured textiles.

DIGITAL TRANSFER

Appearance
Smooth surface.

Process
Digital transfer involves printing a design on transfer paper and then hot-pressing it directly onto the textile. Suitable for a wide variety of materials (cotton, polyester, etc.), it produces complex prints with fine detail and vivid colours.

TRANSFERT NUMÉRIQUE

Advantages
Ideal for small runs and complex designs.
Excellent detail and colour reproduction.

Disadvantages
Less durable than screen printing or embroidery (sensitive to repeated washing).
Slightly stiff to the touch.

VINYL TRANSFER

Appearance
Slightly raised surface (matt or gloss)

Process
Vinyl transfer involves cutting a pattern from a coloured sheet of vinyl, then hot-pressing it onto the textile. This technique, also known as flex, is suitable for simple, plain or multicoloured designs, and offers great precision in the contours. The vinyl adheres firmly to the fabric, creating a tough, textured surface.

TRANSFERT VINYL

Advantages
Water repellent and hard-wearing.
Available in a range of finishes (matt, gloss, glitter, etc.).

Disadvantages
Not suitable for complex or gradient designs.
Reduces breathability over large surfaces.

DIGITAL PRINTING (DTG)

Appearance
Print integrated into the fabric.

Process
Direct digital printing (DTG) uses a specially designed printer to project ink directly onto the textile. This technique enables high-resolution prints to be produced, with colour gradations and complex details. The ink is then heat-set, integrating perfectly with the fibres of the fabric, especially on cotton garments.

IMPRESSION DTG

Advantages
Excellent detail and colour reproduction.
Suitable for complex patterns and gradients.

Disadvantages
Less durable than silkscreen for repeated washing.
High cost for small production runs.

DIRECT TO FILM (DTF)

Appearance
Slightly textured film, soft to the touch.

Process
The Direct to Film (DTF) process involves printing a colour pattern on a special film, then applying an adhesive powder to the print. The film is then heated and hot-pressed onto the textile, transferring the ink and adhesive directly into the fabric fibres. This process is suitable for many types of textiles, and the patterns can be complex and multi-coloured.

IMPRESSION DTF

Advantages
Excellent colour quality, even on dark fabrics.
Durable and wash-resistant.

Disadvantages
Slightly thicker to the touch than digital printing (DTG).
Reduces breathability over large surfaces.

These tracers carry a unique, tamper-proof code, enabling the product to be authenticated by an Aware™ scanner. This information is then recorded in the blockchain, enabling the life of the product to be traced. The data is made public by a QR Code affixed to a label that gives access to the garment's digital passport, offering complete visibility of the production process and guaranteeing transparent management of the textile supply chain.

SPASSO

Spasso embodies a contemporary vision of fashion, born from a desire to offer a wardrobe that is understated, refined, and resolutely authentic. The brand speaks to those who want to offer their clients quality garments — elegant, durable, and inspiring pieces designed to become the foundation of unique identities.

A complete range built around several complementary lines, each conceived as a solid base to be personalised, styled, or worn just as they are. Among them, four signature collections: linen, corduroy, knitwear, and sherpa.

Whether it's to build a minimalist capsule or enrich an existing wardrobe, Spasso offers well-cut, honest pieces — grounded in the spirit of the times.

THE SPASSO DNA, BUILT ON THREE PILLARS

Noble materials___

Fabric is the starting point. Linen — the brand's signature — sits alongside cotton and viscose. These materials are then crafted into a range of fabrics, from airy voiles to rich corduroy, giving life to pieces that are elegant, comfortable, and distinctly modern.

Contemporary elegance___

At Spasso, every garment is a blank canvas — a piece designed to adapt, evolve, and tell a story. From airy shirts to textured knit polos, from sharply tailored trousers to easy summer shorts: a wardrobe that embraces a natural, fluid style with a subtly modern edge.

Timeless aesthetic___

The collections revolve around organic tones like Linen Sand, Organic Khaki, and Navy Blue — a subtle, understated palette designed to carry effortlessly through the seasons. Cuts are precise, details carefully considered, and each piece is made to stand the test of time — both in style and in quality.

HOW TO CHOOSE A T-SHIRT?

STEP 1:
COMPOSITION

Choosing the composition can be an important step when selecting your products.

COTTON, POLYESTER OR POLYCOTTON? WHAT TO CHOOSE ACCORDING TO YOUR NEEDS?

Cotton, polyester or polycotton?

	WHAT'S THIS?	+	-
COTTON	Natural plant fibre	• Highly absorbent • Comfortable, soft feel • Resistant to high-temperature washing • Does not create static electricity	• Tendency to shrink • Dyes fade over time • Moisture-sensitive
POLYESTER	Synthetic fibre	• Extremely hard-wearing • Does not crease • Wicks away sweat, perfect for sports and work • Easy-care, lightweight and warm • Does not fade over time	• Oil or grease stains cannot be removed • Creates static electricity • Highly absorbent

STEP 2:
WHAT ARE THE CHARACTERISTICS OF 100% COTTON YARN?

One of the most important characteristics of a 100% cotton t-shirt is the length of the fibres used in the weave. Fabrics made from long fibres are thought to be better quality. This is an important element, which can be used to measure a product's quality, printability and durability.

Carded cotton is obtained using a carding machine to disentangle and air the raw fibres. It produces a matte fabric that feels slightly rough to the touch. This short-fibre fabric is more cost-effective.

STEP 3:
HOW TO CARE FOR A T-SHIRT?

Whatever its composition, a t-shirt requires specific care to ensure its longevity wash after wash, especially if it is decorated with branding. The secret is simply to read the recommendations on the manufacturer's label, usually found on the inside of the t-shirt, before washing. Every fibre is unique and reacts differently to washing and drying.

A FEW TIPS TO REMEMBER:

100% COTTON

There are three golden rules to protecting the delicate fibre of a cotton t-shirt:

Wash the t-shirt inside out at 30°C.

Dry in the open air on a line or on a hangar.

Iron the t-shirt inside out, at a medium temperature and without steam

SYNTHETIC POLYESTER / POLYCOTTON

The resistant fibres of synthetic t-shirts (polyester and polycotton) still require suitable care to protect the fabric over time.

Whether you wash them by hand or in the machine, keep the temperature below 40°C. Select the synthetics programme on your machine.

Using a tumble dryer is not recommended.

Iron at low temperatures.

Combed cotton

After carding, the yarn is passed through a combing machine to remove the short fibres. This gives the finished fabric a silkier feel, making it softer, more resistant in the wash and more hard-wearing. It ensures smooth surfaces for decoration access.

Ringspun combed cotton

undergoes a final step before the fabric is woven. The fibres produced during combing are thinned and twisted, which produces a softer, more resistant yarn that is less susceptible to shrinkage. Ideal for high-quality printing.

Pre-shrunk combed cotton can be pre-shrunk using a finishing treatment called sanforisation. This reduces the risk of shrinking in the wash for longer-lasting clothing. It is a sign of quality and durability.

Double overstitching on cuffs and hem. This product is traceable thanks to Aware™ technology. This information is then recorded in the blockchain, enabling the life of the product to be traced. The data is made public by a QR Code affixed to a label that gives access to the garment's digital passport, offering complete visibility of the production process and guaranteeing transparent management of the textile supply chain.

HOW TO CHOOSE A POLO SHIRT

STEP 1:
COMPOSITION

Polo shirts are made from three types of material: cotton, polycotton and polyester.

WHAT ARE THEIR PROPERTIES AND BENEFITS?

COTTON, POLYESTER or POLYCOTTON?

COTTON

The 100% cotton polo shirt is the most popular choice thanks to its strength and durability. Long fibres are preferred to short fibres to prevent pilling after a number of washes. It is also very comfortable and has the ability to wick moisture. The fibre absorbs the water released by the skin to give the wearer a feeling of well-being.

POLYESTER

The 100% polyester polo shirt is often used in sports because the fibre absorbs less moisture from the skin and therefore promotes drying. It is often combined with fibre-treatment technologies such as Coolplus®. That allow it to dry even more quickly and limit odours. It creases very little, shrinks very little and is resistant to stubborn stains.

POLYCOTTON

A mixed polo shirt benefits from the advantages of both cotton and polyester. It combines the resistance of cotton with quick-drying polyester. It is often seen as a good compromise at a mid-range cost.

STEP 2:
KNIT

JERSEY

2 different faces: the right side is smooth while the wrong side looks like a wave with a line through it. Knit generally used for making t-shirts.

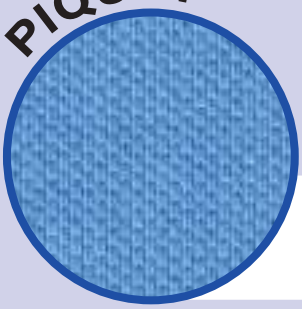
- Smooth surface
- Easy printing
- Flexibility and softness

PIQUET



STEP 3:
CARING FOR A POLO SHIRT

The way in which a polo shirt is woven and its unique appearance require special care. Polo shirts are usually resistant to washing.

MACHINE WASH

When washing a polo shirt, choose a short machine cycle at 30 °C. There is no need to add fabric softener. In fact, this would not make the fabric any less rough and could risk damaging the fibre.
Hand washing should be avoided because it does not allow you to control the temperature of the water, the time or the amount of detergent.

DRYING

Using a tumble dryer is not recommended as this would damage the fibre and cause your polo shirt to shrink.
Air drying is preferred.
There are two suitable ways to dry a polo shirt:
- Hang the polo shirt on a rack under the sleeves
- Put the polo shirt on a plastic hanger.

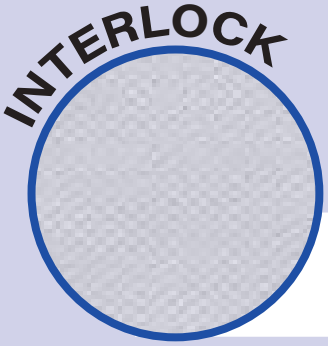
DO NOT USE CLOTHES PEGS
as they may distort or mark the fabric.

IRONING

You should iron a polo shirt carefully. We recommend using a lower-heat iron, set to "cotton, wool and viscose".
Polo shirts should be ironed inside out to avoid scuff marks.

Diamond-shaped, relief, aligned stitch and even square motifs. The most commonly used knit for making polo shirts.

- Stretchy
- Easy-care
- Flexible and soft



2 smooth faces: the right side has the same look as jersey, the wrong side is ribbed. Double-face knit, twice as thick and heavy as single-knit jersey.

- Naturally stretchy
- Stable during printing
- No transparency
- Does not pill

HOW TO CHOOSE A SWEATSHIRT

STEP 1:
WHICH COMPOSITION?

Cotton or polycotton sweatshirt?
Your choice will depend on your needs and expectations for this garment.

WHAT ARE THE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THESE TWO TYPES OF COMPOSITION?

COTTON OR POLYCOTTON?

COTTON

A cotton sweatshirt feels pleasantly soft.
It is comfortable to wear as it is highly absorbent and insulating.
It does not scratch or irritate the skin and hangs perfectly.

POLYCOTTON

Polycotton sweatshirts are considered to be hard-wearing.
The polyester content gives the fibre elasticity. This creates a garment offering greater stretch for more freedom of movement and it pills less easily than 100% cotton.

STEP 2:
WHICH KNIT?

Whether it is made from 100% cotton or polycotton, a sweatshirt can be described in different ways. These depend on its design (2 yarn - 3 yarn) and, in some cases, any treatment that may have been applied before assembly.

BRUSHED FLEECE

Brushed fleece is very soft and cosy. The inner material is brushed to create a pleasant downy effect. It can be designed with 2 or 3 yarns. 3 yarns, consisting of 3 layers, has low shrinkage:

- Outer layer 100% combed cotton for a smooth look
- Intermediate layer 100% polyester for resistance
- Inner layer of polycotton for softness.

LS - Low shrinkage

LSF LST LSI

Low Shrinkage is a technology used to ensure the durability of a sweatshirt.
The fabric is treated before being assembled to reduce shrinkage. This process is carried out using 2 industrial machines. The compactor applies a wet treatment to the fabric to reduce the shrinkage rate. The stenter applies a heat treatment to stabilise the material.

This technology can be applied to a sweatshirt:
- brushed (LSF - Low Shrinkage Fleece)
- unbrushed (LST - Low Shrinkage Terry)
- interlock (LSI - Low Shrinkage Interlock).

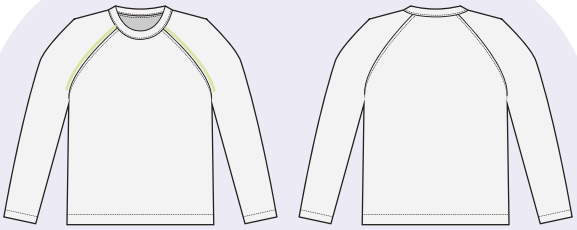
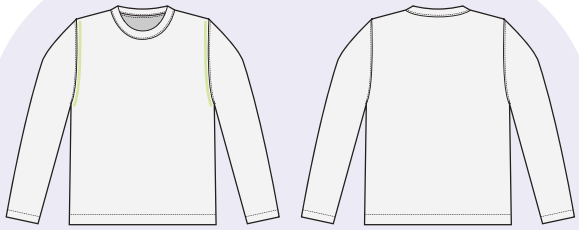
STEP 3:
CHOICE OF SLEEVES

When choosing a sweatshirt, the type of sleeve is an essential factor.
The decision will be determined by the intended use for the garment and style preferences.

RAGLAN SLEEVES OR SET-IN SLEEVES?



RAGLAN SLEEVES
Raglan sleeves offer great freedom of movement. The sleeve goes all the way up to the neckline, stitched diagonally from the underarms to the collar. This trendy cut is also popular for sports clothing as provides optimum comfort and freedom of movement. The sweatshirt can be slipped on easily and areas of friction are reduced.



SET-IN SLEEVES
Set-in sleeves are the most common and classic style. The sleeve cap follows the armhole from the underside of the arm up to the shoulder.
It adapts to the rounded shape of the shoulder.
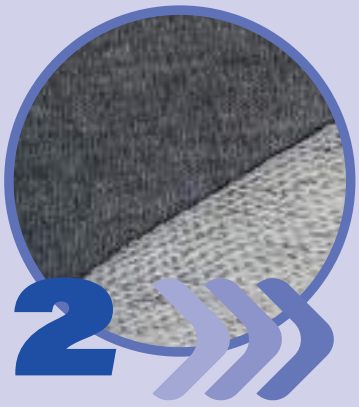
It is important to choose the best size for each body shape to allow ideal freedom of movement.

FRENCH TERRY



The unbrushed fleece, also called terry or terry jersey, does not undergo any brushing step.
The fiber loop remains intact and visible like a less dense bath towel.
The interior is less soft than the brushed fleece.
The material is lighter and more breathable.
It is made of 2 or 3 threads and can be 100% cotton or polycotton.

INTERLOCK

Interlock is a fabric worked in double thickness using one thread. It can be identified by the little 'V's on both sides.
The knit is compact to provide durability and a silky look.
It is usually made from cotton and might also contain polyester for greater resistance.

EXPLANATIONS
SOFTSHELL JACKET

STEP 1:
MATERIALS

Softshells are jackets made from soft, flexible stretch with a smooth feel. They are comfortable, ergonomic and provide good freedom of movement.
They are ideal for use outdoors as they provide effective insulation from the cold and their breathable properties help to regulate air circulation.
One of the most important features of these technical jackets is their wind-breaking properties.
Their water-repellent coating provides protection from showery weather. Overall, the softshell is an excellent alternative to both heavy jackets and traditional lightweight wind-breakers. They come in 2 types, 2-layer and 3-layer.

STEP 2:
CUTS

A softshell jacket usually has a tailored fit. Several cuts are available to meet different needs.

Jacket without hood

Hoodie

STEP 3:
CARE

It is absolutely possible to wash a softshell, in fact this is even recommended. Cleaning will remove dirt that could otherwise impair its technical features. However, washing must be occasional. A softshell can be machine-washed at a low temperature, no higher than 30°C. Use a delicates programme. Do not put a softshell through a spin cycle or dry it in a tumble drier.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT SHIRT

STEP 1:
MATERIALS

When choosing a shirt, the first thing to consider is the material. There are lots of different types and each has its own specific characteristics.
Material quality is a key factor in your decision.

WHAT TYPES OF MATERIALS AND WEAVES?

POPLIN:

Lightweight, supple and fluid, poplin shirts are easy-care, elegant and versatile.

OXFORD:

Extremely robust "relief" fabric. Easycare, Oxford shirts are resistant to dirt and wear.

COTTON ELASTANE:

Fabric designed to offer greater freedom of movement while remaining fitted in all circumstances. Perfect shirts for a professional environment.

TWILL:

The material is characterized by its fine, hanted stripes and is saft and lupre, yet very robust and subtle shine.

MICRO TWILL:

The micro twill is a lighter and higher quality alternative to the classic twill.

LINEN:

Perfect for summer, its fibre does not pill and offers greater breathability. easy-care, it softens and becomes more supple over time.

DENIM:

Very tight 100% cotton fabric and robust. Timeless, must-have shirts.

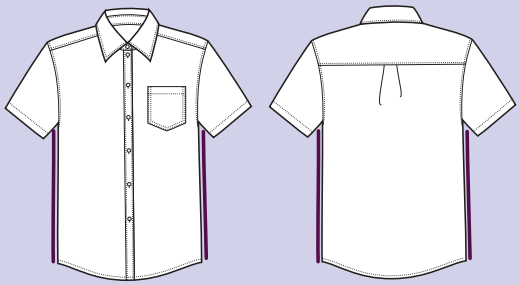
CHAMBRAY:

100% cotton fabric with alternating blue and white threads giving it texture and a decorative feel. Shirt in lightweight canvas material with a denim effect.

STEP 2:
CUTS

The cut of a shirt is important because it must be suitable for the intended use and body shape of the wearer.

STRAIGHT



Straight cut (regular, comfortable, classic):
- Relatively roomy
- Suitable for all body shapes

Use: Suitable for both classic and formal working environments, this cut offers comfort and freedom of movement, ideal for those who need to be mobile.

STEP 3:
FINISHES

1 COLLARS

Collars exist in a variety of types which give garments different styles.
From the familiar French collar to the original look of the Mandarin collar.

The French collar:
The most common style. Perfect for every occasion, suits a casual business look.

The cutaway collar:
Wide neck opening and short points for incredible elegance.

Buttoned neck:
Casual style and excellent fit thanks to this dynamic collar inspired by sports polo shirts.

The Mandarin collar:
No flap for a sophisticated and minimalist style.

Collar stays are sometimes added at the tips for more support and a chic, dressed-up look.

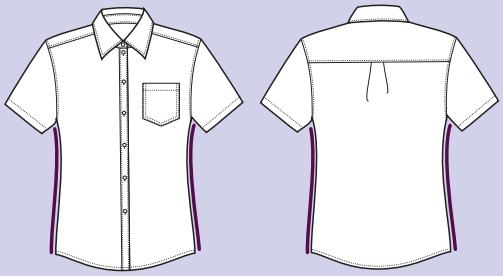
2 CUFFS

With rounded edges

With square edges

With cut edges

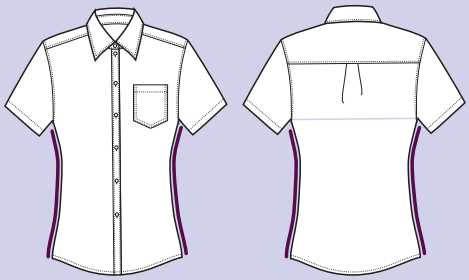
SLIM



Straight fit:
- Somewhat fitting to the body
- Does not affect ease of movement

Use: Perfect for executives and service professionals. Thanks to its neat look, this modern and elegant cut is perfect for customer meetings and professional events.

FITTED



Fitted cut (slim):
- Fits the body perfectly
- Scooped sides and reduced armholes

Use: Perfect for modern and creative environments, this elegant cut enhances the silhouette. It's ideal for customer relations and events where a fashionable, confident look is desirable.

KNEE PROTECTION

PROTECTION INFO!

Learn out about the standard requirements for knee protectors, guaranteeing safety and comfort at work.

KNEE PROTECTORS FOR KNEELING WORK

EN 14404

Kneeling is a frequent working position, to protect the user's knees as much as possible in these situations. Standard EN 14404 «Personal protective equipment - Knee protectors for working in the kneeling position» is made up of six parts:

- Part 1: Test methods - EN 14404-1
- Part 2: Requirements for portable knee protectors (type 1) - EN 14404-2
- Part 3: Requirements for the combination of knee pads and clothing (type 2) - EN 14404-3
- Part 4: Requirements for the combination of interoperable knee pads and clothing (type 2) - EN 14404-4
- Part 5: Requirements for knee mats (type 3) - EN 14404-5
- Part 6: Requirements for kneeling systems (type 4) - EN 14404-6

Equipment that complies with the EN 14404 standard means that it has been designed and manufactured to protect the user during professional activities that require kneeling.
Each type of knee protector is subjected to tests that indicate its level of performance in terms of resistance to penetration and force distribution:

LEVEL	PENETRATION RESISTANCE	DISTRIBUTION OF FORCE	USE
0	No protection	Less than 30 N during tests on a regular flat surface	Suitable for smooth floors
1	Protection under a force of at least 100 N	Less than 30 N during tests on a regular flat surface	Suitable for floors with some unevenness
1U	Protection under a force of at least 100 N	Less than 30 N during tests on an uneven surface	Suitable for floors with a high degree of unevenness

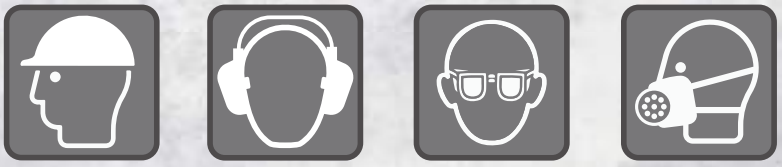
STANDARDS

HEAD PROTECTION

Discover the regulatory standards for head, eye and hearing protection accessories, ensuring safety and comfort in demanding working environments.



PROTECTIVE HELMETS FOR INDUSTRY

EN 397

The EN 397 standard is based exclusively on tests on the top of the helmet.

Requirements:

- A 49J impact to test shock absorption
- A penetration test with a 1kg conical firing pin
- Lateral rigidity test (optional)
- Other options: Resistance to molten metal and electrical insulation 440V

BUMP CAPS

EN 812

Standard EN 812 concerns safety caps.

Requirements:

- Impact test: 4 times with a 5kg flat steel striker (energy 12J)
- Penetration test: 4 times with a 0.5 kg conical firing pin
- Flame resistance and electrical properties (optional)

Under no circumstances should a safety cap replace a safety helmet.

ELECTRICAL INSULATION FOR INDUSTRIAL SAFETY HELMETS

EN 50365

The standard EN 50365 concerns helmets used in live installations up to 1000V.

Requirements:

- Marking with a «double triangle» symbol + helmet class
- Meet the requirements of standards EN 397 and EN 443 (firefighter's helmet)

Any processing of products without prior validation by the manufacturer no longer guarantees compliance with the standard indicated on the unprocessed product.

HEARING PROTECTION

EN 352-1

The standard EN 352-1 concerns earmuffs and sets out the requirements for hearing protectors.

General requirements: size, adjustability, and classification into 3 ranges (small, medium, large) + tests on flammability and drop resistance

Performance tests: headband resistance, cushion pressure, comfort and fit + insertion loss and attenuation tests to determine the appropriate noise level

Durability: evaluation of the strength of the headband after stretching to simulate intensive use

SNR rating: SNR rating indicates the attenuation performance

EN 352-3

Standard EN 352-3 is based on the same principles as standard EN 352-1.

The additional requirements of standard EN 352-3:

- Compatibility between ear defenders and safety helmets
- Pressure maintained by the safety helmet
- Detailed instructions for use to ensure optimum protection

Any processing of products without prior validation by the manufacturer no longer guarantees compliance with the standard indicated on the unprocessed product.

PERSONAL EYE PROTECTION

EN 166

Standard EN 166 defines the requirements for eye protection in the workplace (design, materials, performance, marking and use).

3 types of requirements:

- Basic requirements: optical class testing (best quality for class 1), robustness and resistance to ignition
- Special requirements: impact resistance, protection against splashes and radiation
- Optional requirements: anti-scratch, anti-fog and extreme temperature resistance

ULTRAVIOLET FILTERS

EN 170

Standard EN 170 supplements standard EN 166 by defining the requirements for protection against ultraviolet (UV) rays.

Light transmission requirements: determine the level of filtered UV light

Scale numbers: Indicates protection against ultraviolet rays. Combination of a code number and a shade number (e.g.: 2-1.2)
2 = UV protection code
1.2 = eyepiece tint

Enhanced colour recognition: addition of a C to the code number (e.g.: 2C-1.2) or a 3 for certain products (3 - 1.2)

ANTI-GLARE FILTERS

EN 172

Standard EN 172 supplements standard EN 166 by defining the characteristics of anti-reflective filters for industrial eye protection.

Light transmission requirements: define the protection offered by the lens

Scale numbers: Combination of a code number and a shade number (e.g.: 5 - 1.1)
5 = code for lenses without infrared protection
6 = code for lenses with infrared protection

Eyepiece shade numbers: 1.1 to 4.1
1.1 to 3.1 = colours that meet the requirement for traffic light recognition (driving)

MESH EYE AND FACE PROTECTORS.

EN 1731

This standard defines the requirements for mesh eye and face protection, covering face protection products mounted on a headband and helmet-mounted versions.

Tests and analyses: coverage area, resistance to corrosion and ignition, light transmission and sturdiness.

Optional requirement: protection against high-speed particles.

Any processing of products without prior validation by the manufacturer no longer guarantees compliance with the standard indicated on the unprocessed product.

The tests are carried out on laboratory equipment (real people).

RESPIRATORY PROTECTION DEVICES

EN 140

The EN 140 standard is based on respiratory protective devices, half-masks and quarter-masks.

Assessments :

- Field of vision
- Joint strength
- Respiratory resistance
- Carbon dioxide content and inward leakage

RESPIRATORY PROTECTION DEVICES

EN 143

Standard EN 143 defines the requirements for particle filters used with respiratory protective devices.

Requirements:

- Assessment of materials, seals, markings and user information
- Filters tested for resistance to breathing, clogging and filtration capacity

Filters are divided into 3 categories:

P1: low efficiency (80%)
P2: average efficiency (94%)
P3: high efficiency (99.5%)

RESPIRATORY PROTECTION DEVICES

EN 149

Standard EN 149 defines the requirements for particulate filtering half-masks.

Requirements:

- Assessment of materials, field of vision, performance, markings and user information
- Masks tested for breathing resistance, penetration, clogging, carbon dioxide in air, seal and valve resistance

Masks are classified into 3 categories:

FFP1: low efficiency (80%)
FFP2: average effectiveness (94%)
FFP3: high efficiency (99%)

Any processing of products without prior validation by the manufacturer no longer guarantees compliance with the standard indicated on the unprocessed product.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

EN ISO 21420
This standard defines the general requirements and test methods relating to glove design and construction, safety, comfort and effectiveness, as well as marking and information provided by the manufacturer applicable to all protective gloves. This standard does not cover the protective properties of gloves. It is therefore not used on its own, but only in conjunction with the appropriate specific standard(s).

The cycles correspond to the number of rubs required with abrasive paper to penetrate the sample.		The index is obtained from the number of cycles required for a circular blade to cut the sample and a control at constant speed and pressure.		Force required (in Newtons) to tear the sample.		The force required to pierce the sample material with a standard punch.		The force required by a straight blade to cut the sample over a predetermined distance.		This EN 13594 standardised test method assesses a glove's resistance to an impact of 5 Joules. When it meets the requirements, the «P» marking code is added after the five performance level characters. In the event of failure, no marking is affixed and a warning is included in the leaflet.

EN 511 - PROTECTION FROM THE COLD

EN 511

- Resistance to convective cold is a measure of the glove's thermal insulation (levels 1 to 4).
- Contact cold resistance measures the thermal resistance of the material used to design the glove when it comes into contact with a cold object (levels 1 to 4).
- Resistance to water penetration (Impermeability) is defined after the glove has been immersed for 5 minutes, up to the wrist line (level 0 to 1). If the glove is waterproof, it will obtain level 1; if it is not, it will obtain level 0. If Level 0 is achieved, a warning is written in the leaflet.

EN 407 - PROTECTION AGAINST THERMAL RISKS

EN 407

EN 407

- The glove's resistance to flammability (limited flame propagation) corresponds to the time required for the glove to stop burning (flame persistence) and burning up (residual incandescence) after being exposed to an open flame for 15 seconds (levels 1 to 4).
- Resistance to contact heat measures the temperature (between 100 and 500°C) at which the wearer of the glove will not feel any pain when handling a hot object for the first 15 seconds (level 1 to 4).
- Resistance to convective (non-contact) heat is a measure of the time the glove is able to delay the transfer of heat from an open flame to the inside of the glove (levels 1 to 4).
- Resistance to radiant heat measures the time it takes for the inside of the glove to reach a given temperature (levels 1 to 4).
- Resistance to small splashes of molten metal is measured by the quantity of small balls or droplets of molten metal required to cause a temperature rise of 40°C inside the glove (level 1 to 4).
- Resistance to large splashes of molten metal is measured by the weight of molten metal required (measured in grams) to damage an artificial skin placed inside the glove. The test fails if the glove catches fire.

If a level 3 or higher is obtained in these different tests, the glove must have obtained at least a level 3 in the Flammability test. Otherwise, the maximum level that can be achieved is level 2.

The letter «X» must be affixed if a glove does not meet the minimum requirements of a test or if the test has not been carried out.

STANDARDS

HI VIZ

VISIBILITY INFO!

Learn the basics about regulatory standards for high-visibility clothing and accessories, designed to guarantee safety and visibility in high-risk environments.

HIGH-VISIBILITY WORKWEAR

EN ISO 20471

High-visibility clothing is designed to make it easier for drivers of vehicles or other mechanical equipment to detect the wearer, in all lighting conditions, day and night, in the headlights of a vehicle. There are three categories of high-visibility clothing, based on risk assessment.

Minimum surface area of visible material	Category 1	Category 2	Category 3
Fluorescent	0,14 m²	0,50 m²	0,80 m²
Retroreflective	0,10 m²	0,13 m²	0,20 m²
Fluorescent & retroreflective (m²)	0,20 m²	-	-

Watch out for markings on high-visibility clothing. Covering up a fluorescent and/or retroreflective area may result in the product being downgraded due to the reduction in the minimum surface area of visible material.

RISK LEVEL	FACTORS LINKED TO RISK LEVEL		PRODUCT SPECIFICATIONS
	Vehicle speed	Type of road user
High risk ISO 20471, category 3	> 60 km/h	Liabilities	High visibility	- Day and night visibility - 360° (visibility from all sides) - Designed to identify the shape - Surrounding the torso - Quantity and quality suitable for day and night
High risk ISO 20471, category 2	≤ 60 km/h
High risk ISO 20471, category 1	≤ 30 km/h			- Day and night visibility - 360° (visibility from all sides) - Designed to identify the shape - Quantity and quality suitable for day and night

ENHANCED VIEWING EQUIPMENT FOR MODERATE RISK SITUATIONS

EN 17353

Enhanced visualisation equipment is designed to make its users more visually perceptible in moderate-risk situations whatever the conditions of daylight, illumination by vehicle headlights or illumination by floodlights in the dark. They are grouped into three types depending on the foreseeable conditions of use: Type A, Type B and Type AB.

 Type A Daylight	 Type B Darkness	 Type AB Daylight, half-light and darkness
Equipment based on fluorescent material	Equipment based on retroreflective material	Equipment based on fluorescent material, retroreflective material or material with combined specifications
-	B1 (free-hanging)	-
	B2 (members)	AB 2
	B3 (torso, or torso and limbs)	AB 3

STANDARDS

PROTECTIVE CLOTHING

EN ISO 13688

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

EN ISO 13688+A1

ISO 13688+A1 standard specifies general performance requirements relating to the ergonomics, safety, size designation, ageing, compatibility and marking of safety clothing and the information to be supplied by the manufacturer with protective clothing.

The ISO 13688+A1 standard is intended for use only in association with other standards containing requirements relating to specific protective performance and is not intended to be applied on its own.

PROTECTION PROPERTY AGAINST SOLAR UV RADIATION

EN13758-2 40+

EN 13758-1+A1 + EN13758-2+A1

Standard EN 13758-2+A1 defines the requirements for clothing intended for the protection of wearers against exposure to the sun's ultraviolet rays.

The ultraviolet protection factor (UPF) as determined by standard EN 13758-1+A1 must be be higher than 40 (UPF40+). Exposure to the sun's UV rays can lead to a number of side effects, so EN 13758-2+A1-standard garments provide protection for the areas covered against the sun's UVA and UVB rays and help to reduce the dangers associated with this exposure.

PROTECTION AGAINST RAIN

EN 343

EN 343

Protective rainwear is designed to protect the wearer from precipitation in the form of rain or snow, fog and ground humidity.

The standard defines two types of resistance to assess the protection and comfort of the garment:

- Resistance to water penetration, which determines the level of impermeability of the material;
- Resistance to steam which defines the breathability of the material and its ability to wick away the wearer's perspiration.

X indicates the water resistance category of the garment (the higher the class, the more waterproof the product).

RESISTANCE TO WATER PENETRATION	CATEGORY 1	CATEGORY 2	CATEGORY 3	CATEGORY 4
Sample to be tested: - Material before pre-treatment - Material after each pre-treatment»	WP ≥ 8000 Pa -	- WP ≥ 8000 Pa	- WP ≥ 13 000 Pa	- WP ≥ 20 000 Pa
- Seams before pre-treatment	WP ≥ 8000 Pa	WP ≥ 8000 Pa	WP ≥ 13 000 Pa	-
- Seams after pre-treatment by cleaning	-	-	-	WP ≥20 000 Pa

Y indicates the steam resistance category of the garment (the higher the class, the more breathable the product)

RESISTANCE TO STEAM R_{et}	CATEGORY 1	CATEGORY 2	CATEGORY 3	CATEGORY 4
$\frac{m^2 \cdot Pa}{W}$	$R_{et} > 40$	$25 < R_{et} \leq 40$	$15 < R_{et} \leq 25$	$R_{et} \leq 15$

PROTECTION AGAINST FLAMES

EN 14116

EN ISO 14116

This standard specifies the performance requirements for materials, assembled materials and protective clothing with limited flame propagation in order to reduce the risk of clothing burns on occasional, short-term contact with small flames.

PROTECTIVE CLOTHING
ELECTROSTATIC PROPERTIES

EN 1149-5

This standard specifies the requirements for the materials and design of protective electrostatic dissipation clothing, used in conjunction with an earthing system to prevent sparking due to electrostatic charges that could cause fires or explosions.

INDUSTRIAL WASHING

EN ISO 15797

Standard EN ISO 15797 (Textiles - Industrial laundering and finishing methods for workwear testing) enables textile manufacturers to test the resistance of their fabrics and clothing to the rigorous cleaning and drying methods used in professional laundries. These tests examine relevant properties such as shape stability, colourway behaviour, wrinkling, crease formation, pilling and overall visual appearance.

A laundry cycle comprises a washing process and a drying/finishing process.

Different washing procedures are listed and determined according to the colour of the garment, the fabric composition and type of bleaching.

PROGRAMME NUMBER	CLASSIFICATION	FABRIC COMPOSITION	WASHING TEMPERATURE
1	White work clothes and/or fragile coloured trimmings Bleaching with peracetic acid	100% cotton	75°C
2	White work clothes and/or fragile coloured trimmings Bleaching with peracetic acid	All combinations of blended fibres and 100% synthetic fibres	75°C
3	White workwear - Chlorine bleaching	100% cotton	85°C
4	White workwear - Chlorine bleaching	All combinations of blended fibres and 100% synthetic fibres	75°C
5	White workwear and/or fragile coloured trimmings Bleaching with hydrogen peroxide	100% cotton	85°C
6	White workwear and/or fragile coloured trimmings Bleaching with hydrogen peroxide	All combinations of blended fibres and 100% synthetic fibres	85°C
7	Coloured workwear	100% cotton	85°C
8	Coloured workwear	All combinations of blended fibres and 100% synthetic fibres	75°C

There are also two drying/finishing procedures:

- Procedure A: Tumble drying - Maximum drying temperature 90°C
- Procedure B: Tunnel/cabinet finishing - Maximum drying temperature 155°C

Depending on the results of the tests carried out, a label is affixed to the garment showing the laundry cycle to be followed by professional laundries.

RECYCLED COTTON K-LOOP PROJECT SHOPPER

285 gsm • 73% cotton / 25% polyester / 2% other fibers. This bag is part of the "K-loop" project. With this project, Kimood is closing the circular economy loop in the strict sense of the word. The cotton used comes from waste generated in the production of cotton t-shirts for the Kariban brand, from the KARIBAN BRANDS family. The added polyester comes from recycled plastic bottles. During the recycling process, we add tracers to the thread, i.e. electronic chips containing a blockchain (storage and information transmission technology) which stores all the operations carried out on the thread.

LSF	LSF	(Low Shrinkage Fleece) High quality 80% combed cotton / 20% polyester fleece with low shrinkage. The inner and outer faces of the fabric contain a continuous filament that offers excellent resistance to washing. The outer face is perfect for printing, while the inner face is extremely comfortable.
LST	LST	Low Shrinkage Terry : High-quality French terry treated to significantly reduce shrinkage, allow perfect printing and excellent comfort.
LSI	LSI	Low Shrinkage Interlock : High-quality interlock treated to significantly reduce shrinkage, allow perfect printing and provide excellent comfort.
PST	PST	Perfect Sweat Technology : A blend of 80% ring-spun combed cotton and 20% polyester. Low shrinkage fleece. Brushed inner.
	ANTIBACTERIAL TREATMENT	Antibacterial properties that reduce unpleasant odours and bacteria. Maintains hygiene and freshness thanks to silver ion transfer. Resistant to washing at 60° and dry cleaning. Reduces washing cycles and therefore energy consumption, resulting in more durable clothes.
	PEACH SKIN	The fabric has been treated to lengthen the fibres and make it velvety to the touch.
	EASY-IRON	To retain the properties obtained by the direct treatment of the fabric, garments should not be washed or ironed at high temperatures.
	NON-IRON	Shirts that do not require ironing. Easy maintenance and crease resistance obtained by direct treatment of the fabric. Wash your shirts, dry them then wear them!
	BLEACH RESISTANT	Bleach resistant fabric.
	BREATHABLE	Breathable garment or fabric. The permeability indicated corresponds to the water vapour in grams that can evaporate from a surface of one square metre in 24 hours. The higher this figure, the more breathable the fabric.
UV	UV	Fabric protects against UV rays in accordance with EN 13758-2 and with a UV protection upper than 40 (UPF40+).
	WATERPROOF	Waterproof garment or fabric. The figure shown corresponds to the fabric's ability to withstand water pressure without allowing moisture to penetrate. The minimum standard is 1500 mm/m^2.
	WATER REPELLENT	Waterproof water repellent.
REVERSIBLE	REVERSIBLE	A garment that can be worn on both sides, offering two distinct styles or finishes. Each side is carefully finished, so you can vary the look with just one garment.

Technologies and patented textiles

	THINSULATE®	A synthetic fiber with thermal insulation properties.
COOLMAX®	COOLMAX®	Ultra-breathable and very light fabric, ideal for all types of training. This technology identifies areas of heat and perspiration, providing optimum temperature and perspiration regulation through air circulation.
Coolplus®	COOLPLUS®	Ideal for athletes! The fibre is cut in a special way to offer excellent breathability and the rapid evaporation of surface moisture. The garment does not stick to the skin, thus allowing longer exertion.
SUPIMA	COTON SUPIMA®	Cotton, whose fibers are more long, soft and hard-wearing than other cotton fibers. Supima® is a registered trademark and a quality guarantee for fabric made with american Pima cotton.
LYCRA®	LYCRA®	LYCRA® clothing is high in elasticity, allowing it to return to its original shape after stretching. This fabric also dries quickly.
TopCool®	TOPCOOL®	Thanks to their special surface, TopCool® polyester fibres absorb moisture perfectly and wick it quickly outward, where it can evaporate. The skin remains pleasantly dry and the body maintains a constant temperature.
CORDURA®	CORDURA®	Polyamide that is ultra-resistant to abrasion.

Glossary

ANTI-PILLING	A finish that prevents fibres from separating and forming pills on the surface of a fabric. Used on fleeces to make them more resistant to washing.
ELASTANE	A generic term for yarns with superior elasticity and resistance to stretching. They allow clothing to better follow the movements of the body and maintain their original form and size for longer. Contributing to better freedom of movement, they are also hard-wearing, comfortable and crease resistant.
BACKING	The application of a plastic film (PVC, Polyurethane [PU], acrylic, etc.) on the surface of the fabric to make it more waterproof.
LYOCELL	An artificial cellulose fiber that offers increased resistance and provides a soft surface that feels like peach skin to the touch. Example: Tencel® (made from the cellulose found in wood pulp).
BREATHABLE MEMBRANE	A film that make fabric waterproof while allowing water vapour (perspiration) to pass through. Examples: Goretex®, Thinsulate®, etc.
POLYAMIDE	A synthetic material made from resistant, flexible and relatively elastic yarns, easy-care.
POLYESTER	Resistant, synthetic yarn, flexible, crease resistant, easy-care.
POLYURETHANE	Woven fabric covered with one or more layers of polymer. Product made from elastane yarns.
QUICKDRY	A breathable fabric that promotes quick drying.
RIP-STOP	Yarns and weft positioned squarely to prevent ripping.
MICROFIBER	Clothing made from microfibers to obtain a silky appearance, softness, comfort and breathability.
VISCOSE	An artificial material made from regenerated cellulose, with a silky and lustrous appearance (smooth to the touch). Also falls beautifully due to the density of the material (higher than cotton).
